

Ohio Supreme Court Decision on Residency

Dear Friends,
As you know, the Ohio Supreme Court ruled against the City of Cleveland's requirement for employees to live within city limits.

This is a decision with which I disagree; however, the City of Cleveland will abide by the decision and the state law that is now in effect.

Many people have raised concerns regarding the potential negative impact this ruling will have on the City of Cleveland. Even though the Supreme Court decision is a disappointment, it does not deliver a death blow to the City. While I hope that Cleveland's employees will continue to be Cleveland residents, the Court's decision will not diminish the City of Cleveland. Cleveland is a great city with a great future, a city that has overcome many challenges.

As Mayor, I will continue to focus on providing high quality city services, investing in our neighborhoods, strengthening our schools and making Cleveland a city of choice, where people choose to live because of the quality of life and standard of living.

Over the past three and a half years as Mayor,

I have worked, along with my employees, to improve service delivery and increase investment in our neighborhoods. Basic city services, including street sweeping, vacant lot clean-up and demolition, have increased significantly. I have increased programming at city recreation centers and restarted the summer job program for youth. We are also implementing a 311 system that will allow us to provide better customer service. Our five-year capital improvement program is funneling millions of dollars into our neighborhoods every year.

In addition, we have improved police deployment to help enhance public safety and more effectively combat crime. We have established strong partnerships with other law enforcement agencies and with social service agencies to help not only address the problem of crime but the causes of it as well. Finally, despite a global recession, the City of Cleveland is continuing to attract new business and make economic development deals. At a time when many major American cities have closed budget deficits by cutting services and laying off employees, the City of Cleveland has a balanced budget without layoffs and is maintaining service levels.

These are just a few indications of Cleveland's strength. I am committed to making sure that the city continues to move forward, continues to rebuild its neighborhoods and continues to strengthen its economy. With the commitment and continued hard work of Cleveland's employees, we will make Cleveland a city of choice.

Sincerely,
Mayor Frank G. Jackson
