

Dear Anne,

Yesterday, I introduced critical amendments to the House immigration bill that would preserve family reunification.

When my mother immigrated to the U.S. in 1948, she felt overwhelming grief regarding the fate of the family she left behind in China. Due to the revolution, she only had the barest of communication with her family. Her parents were taken to prison. While her mother was released, her father died of untreated diabetes in prison. Both of her parents died before she had the chance to petition to bring them to the U.S.

No person should ever have to go through the kind of anguish that my mother went through, wondering every day whether she would see her parents and siblings alive again.

Thankfully, my mother was eventually able to bring her siblings here, but not everyone is so lucky.

There are thousands of cases just like my mother's in the immigration backlog right now. The House immigration bill in its current form would completely eliminate sibling visas and allow only 25% of those people who've been patiently waiting in the backlog for decades to bring their loved ones over.

I offered an amendment to completely restore the sibling category, but it was completely voted down on party lines. So then I offered another amendment to at least allow every single person who has been waiting in line to stay in line. And the Republicans voted to kill that one too.

While this action was reprehensible, it made me realize just how important it is to keep diverse voices like mine in Congress. I am more committed than ever to advancing an agenda in Congress that respects the talents of all our residents - including immigrants.

Can I count on you to help me stand up for immigrants in Congress by making a contribution of $25, $50 $100, $250 or whatever you can afford?

With you at my side, I will continue to fight for fair and just comprehensive immigration reform for everyone.

In friendship,
Judy Chu

The McGregor Foundation and the Bruening Foundation Support Asian Services In Action’s Senior Success

Cleveland, OH – Asian Services In Action, Inc. (ASIA) has received funds respectively from the McGregor Foundation and The Eva L. and Joseph M. Bruening Foundation to support the Senior Success! Phase 2. With the past partnership with the McGregor Foundation, the program has led to tremendous positive change among Asian Seniors in Cuyahoga County.

The goal of Senior Success is to ensure Senior Leaders in Cuyahoga County have the opportunity to make meaningful contributions to their community by harnessing their strengths and assets, provide seniors with language and culturally specific assistance with accessing public benefits, support transportation to and from medical and social services appointments, and offer legal and health workshops and activities.

In 2012, ASIA launched the first phase of the program which focused on recruiting and training a cadre of bilingual older Asian adults from six different ethnic communities. In Phase 2, the program will utilize these Asian Senior Leaders and continue reaching a large number of low-income, limited English proficient older adults while establishing a sustainable infrastructure to support their health and well-being.

With the generous support of the McGregor Foundation and the Eva L and Joseph M. Bruening Foundations, ASIA is bound to carry on the implementation of Senior Success! Phase 2 and continue to provide more successful comprehensive health and social services in the future.
